

BIGGEST BOOMBOX

YOU EVER SAW

DOUBLE INDIA PALE ALE

While misdirection had the Germans tracking fake army units, the Ghost Army Signal Service Company had the job of making those fake units sound real. The 150 men in the company created what they called “concerts,” which included the noises of tanks driving and shifting gears, banging, hammering and other bustling activity, and even voices shouting orders and cursing. Al Albrecht, who served in the unit said “the back of my half-track...was the biggest boom box you ever saw. But it played sounds of tanks and activity.”

BIGGEST BOOMBOX YOU EVER SAW is a refreshing Double India Pale Ale bursting with fruity notes of sweet candied mango, ripe pineapple and zesty tangerine. Blasting with a juicy blend of Vera, Hydra, and Ekuanot hops, this bright, tropical brew delivers a booming punch of fruit-forward intensity.
